We don't believe in miracles but we do believe in ancient knowledge! We turned to the best experts in food supplements and herbal blends to develop the perfect formula: a blend of natural ingredients and herb extracts to take your libido for a joy ride.

We blame stress and routine for our lack of libido but sometimes our diets ask for extra vitamin and mineral support. Choosing the right one can be overwhelming and it is hard to know who to trust. That's why, at Bijoux Indiscrets, we decided to develop the solution we wanted for ourselves, that we felt safe about, that lowers stress levels and boosts libido!

With more than 40 years experience developing food supplements, our labs in Madrid helped us formulate the ORGASM GLOW, a herbal blend that gives your body balance so you can enjoy maximum pleasure.

Our thoughts, feelings, beliefs, and attitudes can positively or negatively affect our biological functioning. In other words, our minds can affect how healthy our bodies are! On the other hand, what we do with our physical body (what we eat, how much we exercise, even our posture) can impact our mental state (again positively or negatively). This results in a complex interrelationship between our minds and bodies.

Enjoying solo pleasure has positive effects on our general wellbeing. We should take advantage of all those natural chemicals our brain produces during climax. They improve our mood, increase our libido and regulate our stress levels among other things. Besides, knowing what we like and how we like it is not only empowering but also makes sex better!

This personal massager adapts to our anatomy and is the perfect partner in crime for solo or shared play.

It's about time that we start seeing our lubricants carrying the same great formula as our skin care products. Let's give them the importance they deserve!

Besides the many factors that can contribute to lack of lubrication (like your diet and stress level, for example), lubricants are not exclusive for people with vulvas. They are perfect allies for solo play no matter if you have a vulva or a penis. They also match perfectly with your favorite massager and above all not all body areas naturally lubricate and we need to keep things flowing (safe, painless and fun).

A lubricant is not just a problem solver, it's the master Jedi of sexual "accessories".

A medical-grade, water-based lubricant formulated with high-grade ingredients to match your natural lubrication with no fragrance, dye, nor sugar added.

Well-known to the cosmetic and medical industry, hyaluronic acid goes beyond lip and cheek fillers.

This highly-hydrating active ingredient holds your natural water levels stable, keeping your skin's moisture and elasticity. The mix of water and hyaluronic acid is the perfect combo to avoid discomfort from friction while keeping your skin's vitality and natural lubrication.

A medical-grade water-based lubricant with hyaluronic acid and a high molecular weight that works in the most superficial layers of your skin and tissue, creating a barrier of natural hydration.

Revitalize your intimate area with the moisturizing properties of hyaluronic acid. A formula that keeps your tissue well-lubricated and moist, improving hydration and elasticity.

Aloe vera is one the most versatile natural ingredients: It is edible, has medicinal properties, hydrates, and calms and soothes the skin. Ancient Ayurvedic texts even commend its blood-purifying and toxin-releasing actions.

This, given its extraordinary properties, it is one of the most sacred and curative plants on the planet. And even though there are more than 240 types of aloe only one of them - Aloe Vera Barbadensis - has the power to heal us.

Aloe vera is also known for its antibacterial and antifungal properties, turning it into the best ally as an intimate product like lubricant.

This water-based lubricant blends aloe vera with natural ingredients for a smoother feel. It nourishes and keeps your intimate area balanced with its ultra-hydrating properties. Enhance intimacy, reduce friction, and calm your skin with the magic of aloe vera.

We know that when it comes to pleasure one thing can lead to another and there is no step 1, 2 and 3. Lubricants are great for solo play, intercourse, and games that involve hands and fingers, sure. But we wanted to make it perfect for oral sex as well.

"Lubricant and oral sex?" We at chez Bijoux are pro-natural odors and firm believers that our ancient instinct relies on our sense of smell to make some of the most pleasurable decisions. But we also understand that body confidence is something that we continuously work on and learn, and it's a process to destroy myths and taboos, especially when it comes to our genitals. This said, we wanted to make things slippery yet spicy. The natural water-based formula is perfect for sex and its mild coconut aroma makes oral even more pleasurable, enhancing comfort. It's time to stop worrying, and let go.

Relax and unwind with a formula made with pH-matching ingredients, perfect for pleasure without a shred of stress. Pamper your intimate area and imbibe the relaxing aroma of coconut.

MATCHING YOUR PH

WITH SYRICALM™

An all-natural patented multi-task molecule:

- broad biological action towards cellular stress, inflammation and skin quality;
- soothes and calms irritated skin;
- supports the skin to fully regain and maintain its protective functionality;
- reduces inflammation for immediate calming and long-term protection.

Finding a product that's good for your skin, is pH-balanced, and doubles up as the perfect lube for partnered play and solo self-care with a personal massager, is hard.

It came to us clear as day — like the product itself! It had to resemble natural lubrication, be long-lasting, non-sticky, and be good for your skin! And finding this formula was like hitting the jackpot.

Relying on the expertise of our Barcelona lab, who have been going strong in the cosmetic industry for 30 years, we shared our “perfect formula,” and voila! Blended with high-grade ingredients, this formula contains the crown's jewels. That is, SyriCalm™. When skin is stressed from extensive daily hygiene, SyriCalm™ brings it back into balance, and increases its natural protection.

Make sure you add this step to your daily routine, your body and libido will thank you!

We need to reconnect with our bodies, and the genitals are the most underrated part of our anatomy.

We want to put your clitoris on the map and bring attention to it, keeping you focused during a solo-pleasure session or a sex marathon with your partner. Lack of sensation can be a reality for vulva-owners and this arousal serum increases sensitivity and drives attention to the vulva and clitoris.

The arginine is responsible for sensitizing the area while the ginseng increases the microcirculation bringing more blood to the clitoris and boosting arousal. To keep you from distractions we added Thermolat® a patented molecule responsible for a gentle tingling and warming effect.

Again, we relied on the expertise of our local cosmetics lab, one that we've grown a trusting relationship with over 13 years, to develop the best formula with the best ingredients. With this Clitoral Arousal Serum, you can enjoy up to three months of sexual pleasure.
